

Blog Export: S/V Gudrun V, <http://www.gudrunv.com/>

Saturday, March 19. 2011

Back in St. Martin / computer issues

On Friday evening Liz and I arrived (back) in Sint Marteen - just in time to meet everybody at Lagoones for BBQ and Open Mic (bring your instrument and bang!). Saturday we spent mostly working on the boat. But in the afternoon we took the dinghy out into the bay and watched pelicans as they hunted for fish. In the evening we went to McDonalds for the internet. A few days ago I had started to receive lots of spam comments on my blog and I wanted to update and re-configure it. There are some issues though, and I might not be able to blog for a while. I ask for forgiveness in advance. Liz' first dinghy experience quickly followed by a hammock experience Pelicans going about their business as the sun begins to set. The fiddler (Tony from Darwin) doing the same after sunset

Posted by Axel Busch at 21:06

Nice photos, Axel. Liz looks like she's already got the hang of island living!

The fiddler shot it very good. B&W really evokes drama, mood, feeling, etc., eh.

Sunny here in Ulm.

Matt

Anonymous on Mar 23 2011, 09:18