Go go go

What a day, complete fubar, including three jellyfish that got sucked into the saltwater intake for cooling and almost overheated the engine.

Anyway, now we're kind of ready. Last look at the wind forecast ... oh dear, not much. Waypoints for the next three days:

7:53.6N 79:26.7W

5:37.6N 80:20.9W

3:26.7N 82:00.8W

And then we'll probably run out of wind and drift for a while. Turtle-sailing for sure, drifting on the current. Expected duration for the trip will be around ten days.
