

Monday, June 4, 2012

Pacific Crossing video

Took me a while this time, but here it is finally. The video of the passage. Yay:

Originally we wanted to do a video diary every day, but never knew what to say. And after the first week the whole filming of more sea, and more clouds, got a little tiring. And what sea/clouds we filmed got cut out during editing to keep the clip to a maximum of 8 minutes. So the film speeds up a lot the further we go. Still, hope you get the idea of what it was like.

Posted by Axel Busch in Gudrun V at 09:21

You guys rock the house!! Beautiful, beautiful video! Thank you so much for taking the time to shoot, edit and create it! It definitely makes a difference having two people film (see atlantic crossing Congratulations on a safe passage! And, Liz, congrats to you for being the Super Trooper!

Miss you two

-George
Anonymous on Jun 17 2012, 00:08